

Do you want to contribute to how the Faculty of Social Sciences at the University of Copenhagen will reach its climate goal?

Join the open meeting of the Climate Assembly on Tuesday 21 November from 18:30-20:30 at CSS, Øster Farimagsgade 5, 1353 Copenhagen K, room 15.3.01

At the meeting, you will be introduced to the work of the Climate Assembly, and you will have the opportunity to contribute knowledge, thoughts, and ideas for the green transition that the university must undergo. At the same time, you can gain insight into an alternative, democratic and participatory process.

The Climate Assembly consists of 36 members, drawn from nearly 250 registrants, and is a mix of students, researchers and technical/administrative staff from Social Sciences.

Members have been given this task and you can now contribute to it:

We need your help to recommend and prioritise (1) how SAMF should reduce its CO2 emissions and (2) ensure that SAMF actively contributes to society's green transition

The results of the Climate Assembly will be a series of recommendations for the Dean's Office at SAMF.

Read more about the Climate Assembly and follow the work at:

<https://socialsciences.ku.dk/climate-and-sustainability/climate-assembly/>

Spaces are limited, sign up here:

<https://eventsignup.ku.dk/klimasamlingenpaasamf>

Coffee, tea, soft drinks and sweets will be served at the meeting.

Greetings

Faculty of Social Sciences and members of the Climate Assembly

